BOILING SPRINGS, N.C. ---- Top seed Olivet Nazarene remained unbeaten in the 2001 NCCAA Women's National Volleyball Tournament Saturday, beating previously unbeaten No. 6 seed Union (Tenn.), 30-19, 30-27 and 30-21 to claim the Division I national championship.

The Tigers (39-6) rolled the victory by riding the strong play of tournament MVP Caryn King, who recorded 12 kills and a match-high nine total blocks. Lauren Miller finished with 18 kills and 13 digs to lead in both categories. All-Tournament choice Ivana Fabryova registered five service aces, 11 digs and played a fine all-around contest for ONU.

Sophomore Julie Leman had 35 assists and four blocks from her setter spot. Coach Brenda Williams was ecstatic afterward.

"National Christian College Champions! What can you say," commented Williams, who will lead her team into the NAIA regionals and, potentially, the NAIA National Tournament later this month.

"The girls played for the Lord today, and the whole tournament, and won it for Him. I am so honored to be the coach at Olivet and have God as our leader."

All-Tournament choice Lauren Hayden, who had a wonderful run through the tournament, led Union again Saturday. Teammate Andrea Darr also earned All-Tournament honors with a fine week of play for the Bulldogs (25-2).

Williams, who led her team with class and grace during the weekend's action, was named NCCAA Division I National Coach of the Year.

"I was named [National] Coach of the Year," she said after the championship match, "But the Lord is our head coach."

The Tigers racked up several post-season awards following the tournament, as King and Leman were both named first-team All-Americans. Fabryova and Miller each earned second-team recognition on the All-America team, while King was named National Co-Player of the Year.

Union's Hayden was a first-team choice, while Emily VanDam was named second-team All-American.
